Data disclosure

Your trust is very important to us. The BBC is committed to protecting the privacy and security of your personal information.

It is important that you read this notice, together with any other privacy notice we may provide on specific occasions when we are collecting or processing personal information about you, so that you are aware of how and why we are using such information.

Additional fair processing information can be found in the BBC's Privacy Policy. Where there is inconsistency between those documents and this notice, this notice shall prevail.

What will we collect and how will we use it?

The BBC will collect the personal information that you provide to us in this form, including your name and health/access information. The BBC has a legitimate interest to collect your personal information for the purposes of consent and to meet child protection and health and safety requirements.

Retaining your personal information

Your data will be stored securely and confidentially in Dropbox until 30 September 2020, at which point your consent form will be deleted. The BBC will retain the personal information provided on your consent form indefinitely in a secure password protected spreadsheet, in accordance with legislation relating to contributor consent. Any information no longer required for consent purposes on completion of the project will be deleted.

Sharing your information

The information you provide will be shared with necessary project managers from the BBC National Orchestra of Wales but will not be shared with any third parties. All information will be treated with confidentiality.

Your rights and more information

If you have any questions about how the BBC handles your personal information, or if you wish to contact the BBC to exercise your rights in relation to your personal information, please visit <http://www.bbc.co.uk/usingthebbc/privacy> or contact dpa.officer@bbc.co.uk.

If you raise a complaint with the BBC about the way it has handled your personal information and you are dissatisfied with the BBC's response to your complaint, you are entitled to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority. In the UK, the supervisory authority is the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), which can be contacted at: <https://ico.org.uk/concerns/>.
